VETERINARY EDUCATION & TRAINING

IMPROVING LIVESTOCK MEDICINE BY SUPPORTING MISSOURI VETERINARIANS

University of Missouri’s new Veterinary Education and Training (VET) ECHO will create a collaborative and inclusive community to support veterinarians through case-based learning and evidence-based education. A team of livestock medicine specialists will consult with practitioners to ultimately improve outcomes for producers. MU VET ECHO’s interactive online learning sessions will be held from 12 to 1 p.m. the second Tuesday of each month.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES
• Share evidence-based knowledge and build a community for discussing important topics in livestock medicine
• Facilitate collegial consultation on herd health and individual livestock animal health concerns
• Provide virtual opportunities for continuing education credit for practicing veterinarians

WHAT DOES THIS ECHO OFFER?
• Free continuing education: Approved for 1 hour of veterinary continuing education by the University of Missouri College of Veterinary Medicine
• Collaboration and ongoing learning with a variety of experts in livestock medicine
• No cost to participating sites and individuals
